Membership of

Holst Birthplace Museum

The Holst Birthplace Museum is an independent Museum, one of the only two composer birthplace museums in England. The Trust is very grateful for the support it receives from its membership.

As well as receiving various benefits, Members have the satisfaction of knowing that they are supporting the work of the Trust. To find out how to become a Member please look on our website or contact the museum directly.

Learning at the Museum:

Life in Holst's Victorian Home

Children are greeted by the Holst family's maid, Julia Giles, who introduces them to the work of a scullery maid in a Victorian home. They learn about household tasks in the cosy kitchen in front of the fire.

The 'downstairs' experience includes the opportunity for children to perform chores in period room settings whilst 'upstairs' they see how the family lived, with the chance to play with the toys in the nursery.

Sessions are linked to the primary history curriculum and last 1 hour 30 minutes. For further learning information please refer to the website or contact the Museum.

Guided Tours of the Museum

We are always happy to welcome people who wish to have guided tours of the Museum. These can be arranged out of normal hours. Full admission £5.50, students and concessions £5.00.

Volunteering

Volunteers are the life-blood of the Museum. We are always in need of new helpers, and welcome those willing to share their experience and skills with us.

If you have some free time and enjoy meeting the public or would like to help in other supporting activities, please get in touch.

We invite you to join the Trust and support this fine cause
